An aerial photograph of a residential roof in the process of being repaired. The roof is covered with dark grey asphalt shingles, but a significant portion of the left side is missing, revealing the light-colored wooden decking underneath. A large, dark, crumpled tarp is draped over the center of the roof. Various roofing materials and tools are scattered across the surface. In the background, green trees and a portion of the house's exterior are visible.

ROOF CLAIM HELP

At Great American Roofing Company, we streamline this process, ensuring a smooth and hassle-free experience. Once the adjuster has assessed the damage, our expert team works directly with the insurance company to facilitate approval and determine the necessary repairs. We handle all aspects of the roofing project, from the initial inspection to final repairs, ensuring that your roof is restored to its best condition. With Great American Roofing Company, you can trust that the claims process will be managed efficiently, saving you time and stress.

ROOF CLAIM PROCESS

A roof claim insurance process typically begins when a homeowner notices roof damage, often due to weather events. The homeowner contacts their insurance company to file a claim. An adjuster is then sent by the insurance company to assess the damage and determine the claim's validity and the cost of repairs. If approved, the insurance policy details will dictate the coverage amount. The homeowner can then proceed with repairs, using an approved contractor.

ROOF CLAIM PROTECTION

Great American Roofing Company acts fast to safeguard your home from further damage. As soon as a roof issue arises, we deploy a durable tarp to prevent leaks, structural deterioration, and costly repairs. Our team promptly notifies your insurance company, ensuring a smooth claims process while maximizing your coverage. Trust us to protect your investment with expert care and swift action.

TYPES OF STORM DAMAGE THAT CAN IMPACT YOUR ROOF

01 Wind Damage

Strong winds can lift or tear off shingles, leaving the roof exposed to leaks. High winds can also loosen flashing, gutters, and soffits.

02 Hail Damage

Hail can cause dents, cracks, or punctures in shingles, reducing their effectiveness. It can also weaken the protective granules on asphalt shingles, leading to premature aging.

TYPES OF STORM DAMAGE THAT CAN IMPACT YOUR ROOF

03 Rain Damage

Heavy rain can exploit existing weak spots or small leaks, leading to water infiltration, mold growth, and structural damage.

04 Debris Damage

Fallen branches, trees, or flying debris can puncture the roof, damage shingles, or even collapse sections of the structure.
